In Memory of
S. Truett Cathy

1921-2014

Dear Partner,

Those who knew my dad remember how deeply he cared about having a positive impact on those around him, especially children. He liked telling people, “You have to be very careful about what you say. But, more importantly, you have to be very careful about what you do because you never know how or when you will influence a person’s life.”

He was a Sunday School teacher for more than 50 years because it gave him regular opportunities to invest deeply in young men’s lives. He and my mom also created the WinShape FoundationSM to provide foster care and leadership skills for disadvantaged boys and girls, and to award college scholarships to high school students—all for the purpose of equipping young people to make a difference in their homes and communities.

Today, the same objectives—building character, promoting academic excellence and fostering leadership in our youth—are reflected in the work of the Chick-fil-A Foundation. With a focus on entrepreneurship and fiscal responsibility, and through partnerships with community organizations, we strive to be a creative, reliable resource of volunteers, scholarships and donations that go a long way toward breaking the cycle of poverty that often begins with deficiencies in leadership and education.

These aspirations were very important to my dad—and I’m humbled that because of your partnership they continue to play a central role in how we inspire and equip our youth to become all that God destined them to become.. Thank you for continuing to go the second mile with us.

With Gratitude and Expectancy,

“Our goal is to have a positive influence on all who come in contact with us. We do not just do business; we become a vital part of the communities in which we exist.”

– S. Truett Cathy, Chick-fil-A Founder

Letter from the Executive Director

Dear Supporter:

On September 8, 2014, beloved Chick-fil-A founder Truett Cathy passed away. His many years of joyful service made a significant impact not only on those who work for Chick-fil-A, but also for so many others who benefited from his business and personal investments through the years. His legacy of investing in youth and education is evidenced by the 23 million in college scholarships that Chick-fil-A, Inc. has funded for Chick-fil-A® restaurant employees, and the creation of WinShape to help “shape winners.”

Likewise, the Chick-fil-A Foundation continues to invest in America’s youth with the introduction of new programs and partnerships that engage corporate employees, Chick-fil-A Owner/Operators, civic leaders and restaurant guests.

For example, the organization joined with Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) Power Camps to serve at-risk youth at Wheaton College in Chicago for the first time and sponsored 25 young men who attended the Responsible Citizenship Youth Scholar Academy in Washington, D.C. The Foundation also teamed up with A Better Way Ministries to collect more than 5,000 books, while corporate employees helped pack approximately 3,000 meals alongside members of Action Ministries’ Smart Lunch, Smart Kid.

We are proud to honor Truett’s legacy with our commitment to leadership through philanthropy, and we remain vigilant about partnering with people and projects that address youth and education efforts nationwide.

As we look to the coming year of programming, I hope you will be inspired to invest your time and talents as you serve others, too. Together, we can personify the Chick-fil-A Foundation mission – To serve our community by developing, educating and inspiring youth to build a positive legacy and become all they were created to be.

Sincerely,

“Nearly every moment of every day we have the opportunity to give something to someone else – our time, our love, our resources. I have always found more joy in giving when I did not expect anything in return.”

– S. Truett Cathy, Chick-fil-A Founder

Letter from the Advisory Board Chairman

Truett Cathy's life celebrated America's youth with respect, encouragement and opportunity like no one else I know. It was a life well-lived.

On behalf of the Chick-fil-A Foundation Advisory Board, I wish to pass along our sympathies to the family and friends of Mr. Cathy. He institutionalized a culture of kindness, thoughtfulness and giving – and that legacy will live on in the hearts and minds of bright young leaders who will continue his work and make positive contributions to our world. He was a notch above the rest of us, and we all rose higher because of him. He made humanity better.

I am personally honored to contribute to his legacy of benevolence through the Foundation. I appreciate all that Mr. Cathy gave to so many, and I value his remarkable influence.

Sincerely,

True Inspiration Awards Honoree

The True Inspiration Awards Honoree is bestowed each year upon an organization or individual that embodies the innovative and entrepreneurial spirit of Truett Cathy. As an enterprising eight-year-old in Atlanta, Truett bought six-packs of Coca-Cola for 25 cents and sold the individual glass bottles for a nickel to help support his family. In his lifetime, Truett would become a remarkable leader who offered more than a uniquely delicious chicken sandwich, but also an extraordinary and generous way of doing business.

The recipient of the inaugural True Inspiration Awards Honoree is the Keith Boyd Foundation. Ten-year-old Keith Boyd is an entrepreneur, a small business owner, a big dreamer – with nonverbal cerebral palsy, which means he cannot use his arms, legs or mouth.

Keith, with help from all of the Tulsa-area Chick-fil-A® restaurants and a mentoring organization called Thrive15, hopes to raise awareness and resources for his tuition-free alma mater. The Little Lighthouse is a Christian school serving children from infant to six years old with physical and mental challenges.

The Chick-fil-A Foundation is proud to partner with the Keith Boyd Foundation to support the worthy aspirations of this inspiring young entrepreneur. The award will help achieve Keith's goal of serving and educating children with special needs.

“I knew I had to meet Keith when I heard his story. I was so inspired when he shared his business plan with me. Many people dream big, but to take action is very admirable.”

– Arthur Greeno, Owner/Operator of Chick-fil-A at Eastside Market in Tulsa, Oklahoma

Keith Boyd is an entrepreneur, a small business owner, a big dreamer.

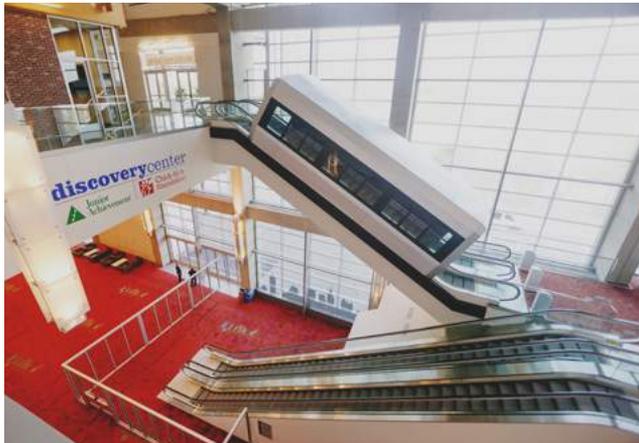

Equipping Our Children

Junior Achievement (JA) is dedicated to working with local businesses and organizations to deliver experiential programs on the topics of financial literacy, work readiness and entrepreneurship.

The Chick-fil-A Foundation's partnership with JA continues to expand nationally as Chick-fil-A Owner/Operators sponsor storefronts at their local Junior Achievement Facilities. Managed locally by JA employees, these facilities make it possible for children to better understand what it means to be valuable members of the workforce and maintain a realistic budget through interactive financial literacy exercises.

Inside JA BizTown

During the 2013-2014 school year, nearly 70,000 students benefited from the JA experience across the country:

32,000+ students in
Atlanta, Georgia

19,100+ students in
Fort Lauderdale, Florida

15,350+ students in
Fairfax, Virginia

3,000+ students in
Charlotte, North Carolina

Since opening its doors in September 2013, the Junior Achievement Chick-fil-A Foundation Discovery Center in Atlanta, Georgia, has served as a cornerstone of the Foundation's engagement with the metro Atlanta community, giving middle school students an opportunity for hands-on learning at JA BizTown and JA Finance Park.

This year, the facility hosted summer programs for the first time for organizations such as the Black & College Bound, Boys and Girls Club, and YMCA.

In 2014, several groups of employees from Chick-fil-A, Coca-Cola, UPS and other corporations participated in special events at the Discovery Center. This facility is not only a geographically central part of metro Atlanta, but has become the heart of the community, serving as a gathering place for educational innovation efforts.

Looking ahead to 2015, Chick-fil-A, Inc. plans to open interactive Chick-fil-A simulations in JA facilities nationally.

Chick-fil-A Inspired Initiatives

Chick-fil-A led programs are essential to executing the Chick-fil-A Foundation's mission to inspire youth to build a positive legacy and become all they were created to be.

For the third year in a row, the Chick-fil-A Foundation and Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) partnered to host Power Camps.

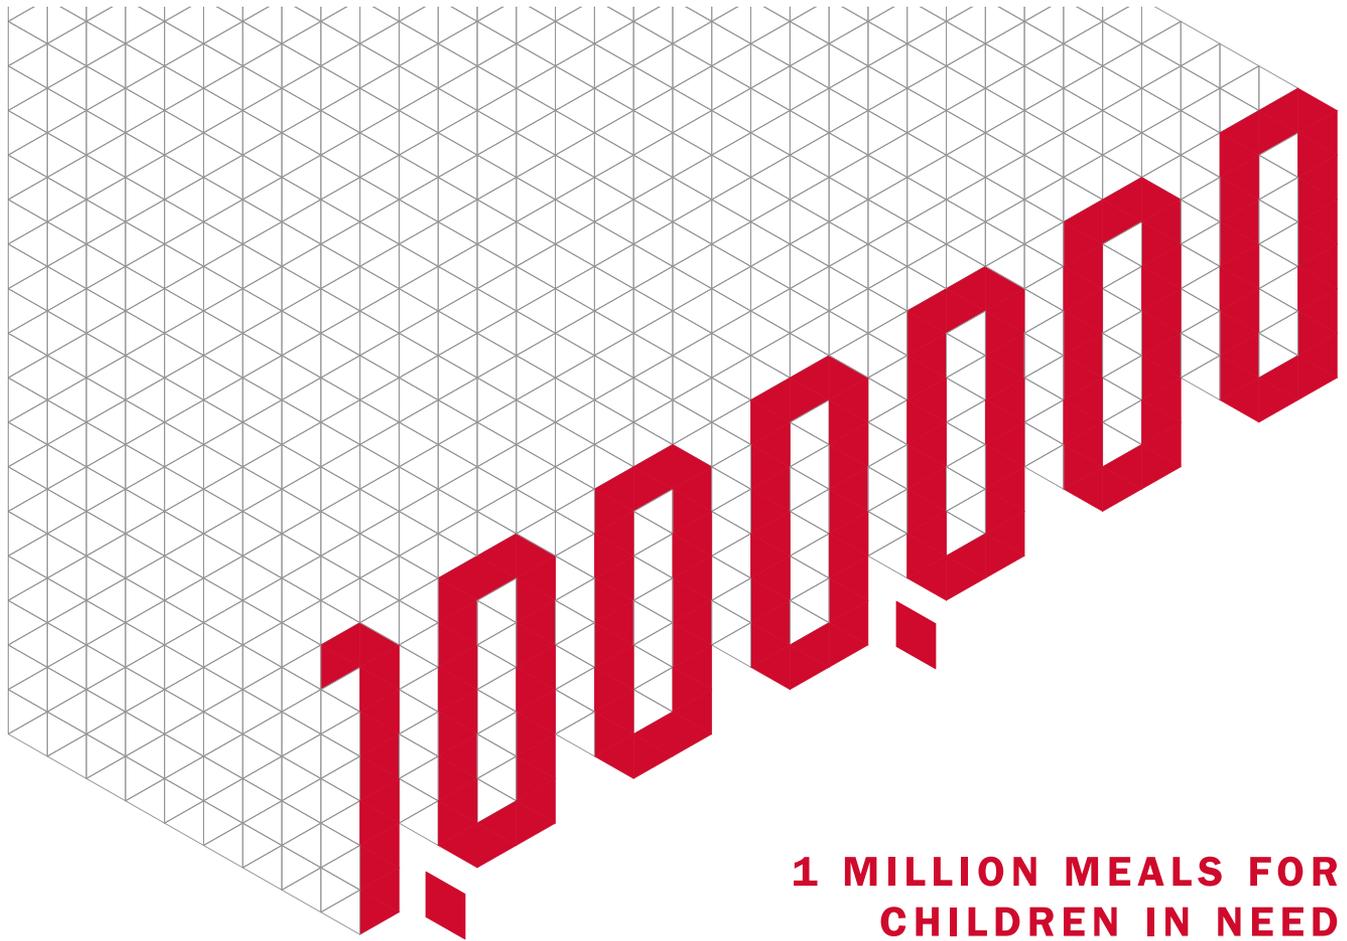

This year, 5 camps hosted 1,000 kids and served 3,100 Chick-fil-A® Chicken Sandwiches to campers.

These camps took place on the campuses of Morehouse College, The Georgia Institute of Technology, and Wheaton College in Chicago, and inspired students to develop new passions for sports they have never played and provide an opportunity for many of them to visit a college campus for the first time.

Working in conjunction with Feeding Children Everywhere, the Chick-fil-A Foundation teamed up with nearly 5,000 students in 11 states at Chick-fil-A Leader Academy kickoff events. Students provided over 1 million meals to those in need in their local communities.

The Salvation Army & CBS Atlanta

Partnering with The Salvation Army and CBS Atlanta, the Chick-fil-A Foundation committed to sponsoring Angel Trees in six Simon malls. This partnership provided sponsorships for more than 10,000 children, making their Christmas one to remember.

Responsible Citizenship Youth Scholar Academy

The Chick-fil-A Foundation sponsored 25 young men who attended the Institute for Responsible Citizenship Youth Scholar Academy in Washington, D.C., to participate in a summer enrichment and college prep program that prepares high-potential students to be college- and career-ready.

Chick-fil-A Foundation Morehouse College Homework Hotline

The Chick-fil-A Foundation partnered with National Public Radio (NPR) to enhance awareness for its Homework Hotline, which provides free homework assistance to children throughout the country.

“Our goal is to give back to the community and provide our guests with opportunities to get involved. We were fortunate enough to collect more than 250 children’s books in support of the Chick-fil-A Foundation’s book collection initiative. I’m a big advocate for the Foundation and support the great work they do in the community.”
