DERMOSONIC CONSENT AND MAINTENCE SCHEDULE

Congratulations on choosing Dermosonic treatment at In HIS Image Day Spa, LLC. Your treatment schedule has been carefully selected to maximize the short and long term effects of your treatments. During your series of treatments, you should consume ½ cup of water per hour to facilitate the flushing of toxins, which may be released during your treatment.

MAINTENANCE

After a series of treatments, it is recommended that you consider 1 treatment per month as a maintenance schedule. Much like exercising to get the perfect abs requires maintenance to keep them; you must have maintenance treatments to maintain the results you achieved after your initial course of endermologie. By following a maintenance schedule, you will enjoy the results of these treatments for years to come.

CONSENT

I have read the attached and understand that my results will be compromised if I do not follow the recommended treatment plan and maintenance schedule. I also consent to the treatment as listed above. I understand that the staff at In HIS Image Day Spa has not made any guarantees to me as to my final results. I also consent to before and after pictures being taken and understand that these pictures will become a permanent part my medical record.
